WHERE WE ARE—AND HOW TO GET TO US

In 2019 all of our wildlife, river and natural history expeditions will be operated from the remote vil-lage of Kuujjuaq in the Nunavik region of Quebec in Canada's Far North. Kuujjuaq is a unique Inuit settlement full of vibrant history that is directly linked to the wildlife camps. Our expedi-tions are often operated to areas that encompass the traditional routes of the Inuit people while they traveled, camped, hunted for caribou and traversed the inland peninsula routes between Hudson & Ungava Bays. The aborigi-nals that live here are still very con-nected to the land and seas—and in many ways are still a hunter-gatherer society. It is definitely worth it to spend some time here exploring the area, the community and the unique aboriginal cul-ture...
